HIT BANK REGULATION BILL

SEE LITTLE HOPE FOR SALES TAX; HOUSE BOOSTS INHERITANCE LEVY

HOUSE LEADERSHIP GLUM AS OPPOSITION TO SALES TAX GROWS

INSURGENTS DEAL ANOTHER DEFEAT TO LEADERSHIP IN HIKIN INHERITANCE TAXES

Washington, March 23.—(U.P.)—The battered house leadership called time out today for a last effort to marshal its weakening lines against the forward-surge army of sales tax opponents.

Confident for a time they had assuaged the opposition by agreeing to exempt all food, clothing and medicine from the sales levy, leaders suffered another defeat late yesterday when the house voted 190 to 149 to impose on inheritances a super-tax ranging up to 45 per cent. This would supplement the present estate tax which has a maximum of 20 per cent.

Expect Successful Compromise

Then amid cries for a vote on the sales tax, the leaders adjourned the house and sought refuge in parliamentary procedure which requires the house to consider minor calendar bills today. This will keep the sales tax issue off the floor until tomorrow.

Both Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee and Democratic Floor Leader Rainey later expressed the opinion that the compromise would be successful. They said they had talked privately with the opposition leaders who were very favorable to the peace offer.

"It ought not to take long now," said Crisp.

The United Press learned from confidential sources that the opposition was withholding definite approval in the hope of getting other minor concessions.

Leaders of both parties devoted today to missionary work, cheering those who have stood by them thus far and seeking to win back some wavering members who have joined with the opposition led by Reps. La Guardia, Rep. N. Y., and Doughton, Dem., N. C., in voting heavy income and estate taxes on the rich.

Little Hope for Sales Tax

Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee, which drafted the tax bill, saw little hope for the sales tax. Republican Floor Leader Snell was equally glum. Democratic Floor Leader Rainey, however, continued to predict the sales tax would be passed with food and clothing exempted when it came to a show-down vote. Speaker Garner was so dejected that he left the floor when the house adopted the heavy inheritance tax.

The new inheritance tax, ranging up to 45 per cent on estates of $10,000, 000 or more, supplements the present maximum 20 per cent levy on which states which have inheritance taxes are allowed an 80 per cent credit.

Even if the new estate tax becomes law, the taxpayer must first pay the present tax, on which the state credit is allowed. In addition, he would pay the difference between the old tax and the new super-tax. Thus federal government would get its 20 per cent under the present rates and all the excess under the new levy. A few states, notably Florida, do not have inheritance taxes and in such cases all the tax would go to the federal treasury. The new inheritance tax provides initial exemption of $50,000. The rates begin with one per cent in the first $10,000 above $50,000 and rise to 45 per cent on $10,000,000 or over.

Rep. Ramseyer, Rep. Ia., author of the new rates, estimated they would bring in at least $400,000,000 annually which would help toward balancing the budget next year. Crisp declared Ramseyer's estimates were far too generous.

TWO LOSE LIVES AS TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

Bellefonte, Ont., March 23.—(U.P.)—A west bound train pulled into the station here today with the wreckage of an automobile on the cowcatcher, and two bodies caught under the wheels. Two other bodies were scattered along the tracks.

The four victims, all from Fort Anne, Ont., were killed when their automobile was struck by the train at a crossing three miles east of here. The train crew was not aware that anything was wrong until the train reached here.

The dead were Everett Masters, 42, Miles Cummings, 23, Dorothy Danlington, 17, and Recotta Storr, 18.

Begging in Europe and Asia is a professional racket. It is estimated that there are more than 10,000,000 professional beggars in those two continents.

Canada Moves to Annul Will Leaving $50,000 to Toronto Woman Giving Birth to Most Children

Toronto, Ont., Mar. 23.—(U.P.)—The provincial government today moved to annul the "capricious" will of Charles Vance Millar who bequeathed almost $500,000 to the Toronto woman who, 10 years after Millar's death had borne the most children.

Millar died in 1926. To date, Mrs. Florence Brown, 42, married 22 years, seems to be leading the marathon. She has given birth to 27 children, 13 of whom are living.

Mrs. Florence Bagnato, 37, is a close second. She is married 24 years and has had 20 children, 11 of whom are now living.

A bill was introduced in the provincial legislature yesterday by Attorney General Col. W. H. Price to convert the money to the use of the University of Toronto. In introducing the bill, Col. Price quoted the following section of Millar's will:

"This will is necessarily uncommon and capricious because I have no near relatives and no duty rests upon me to leave property at my death. What I do leave is proof of my folly in gathering and retaining more than I required in my lifetime."

Other "Capricious and uncommon" provisions of the will were: One share of brewery stock to every Orange Lodge and active protestant minister in Toronto, except one "Spracklin who shot a hotel keeper" in an enforcement raid (when Ontario was dry).

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO 300 IN STORM SECTION

Haugen Serves 33 Years in House

Washington, Mar. 23.—(U.P.)—Gilbert N. Haugen, 72, white-haired republican congressman from Iowa, today broke the record for continuous service in the house.

Haugen has served 33 years and 20 days. The old record had stood since 1912, when Henry Harrison Bingham of Pennsylvania died after 33 years and 18 days of continuous service in the house.

"I'm as well as I ever was," he said. "I feel as if I could do as much work, on the farm or here, as I ever did."

KIDNAPING MYSTERY INTO FOURTH WEEK; NO DEVELOPMENTS

Hopewell, N. J., March 23.—(U.P.)—The Lindbergh kidnaping mystery entered its fourth week today apparently with no nearer solution than the morning after the sleeping baby was stolen from his nursery crib.

H. Wallace Caldwell, member of the Chicago board of education, informed reporters at Trenton he possessed "certain information which is best yet, and I am not working alone on it."

But Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf, directing state police activities, said: "Mr. Caldwell reported to these headquarters some information concerning the case. This information has been checked and found to be of no importance to this investigation. Any further information he may have is to be further checked and investigated."

New York police raided an apartment at 1815 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, on the tip that they might find Harry Fleischer, reputed member of Detroit's "purple gang," hiding out there. The raid yielded no incriminating evidence.

On a report that lumber of the type used in the ladder by which kidnapers entered the second story of the Lindbergh home had been found in a farm house near Neshanic, Sergeant Robert Coar of Jersey City and Corporal William Lear of the state police visited the place.

They found lumber, newspapers, some as late as March 17, dishes, and other evidence of recent occupation. However, Edward Kutchera, New York cabinetmaker who owns the farm, said he had taken the newspapers there himself.

Col. Schwartzkopf said police had not traced any connection between the lumber found and the kidnapers' ladder.

PRISON BREAK PLOT BARED BY GUARDS

Jefferson City, Mo., March 23.—(U.P.)—A tunnel leading to within four feet of the main sewer was found by guards in the Missouri penitentiary today.

It was the second time in recent weeks that escape attempts have been frustrated when officials discovered partially completed tunnels.

The tunnel led from a small passageway in which run the steam heat pipes. It covered approximately half the distance of eight feet between the passageway and the main sewer which empties into the Missouri river.

Montgomery, Ala., March 23.—(U.P.)—Into the storm wracked areas of the south relief workers pushed their way today succoring the injured and homeless, and witnessing pitiful scenes of physical and mental suffering.

The toll of casualties increased as previously isolated communities were heard from. At mid-forenoon the death list was 310, the injured more than 1,000 in the tornado blasted section.

Birmingham, Ala., March 23.—(U.P.)—Death toll from the southern tornado mounted above the 300 mark today with more than 1,000 injured.

The tabulation by states:

Alabama	254	872
Georgia	34	93
Tennessee	18	34

tions of five states. Alabama suffered the worst havoc with tremendous property damage and 254 known dead. Red Cross disaster relief work was in full swing, concentrating in Alabama. Thousands are homeless, and several farming towns completely leveled by the devastating winds.

Gov. B. M. Miller called on communities spared by the storm to contribute to relief funds. Medical supplies, food, tents, bedding and clothing were paramount necessities. National guard units aided in bringing the available into the stricken areas.

NO BIDDERS APPEAR FOR FOSHAY TOWER

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23.—(U.P.)—The 32-story Foshay tower went on the auction block again today and again there were no buyers.

C. C. Darnell, acting for Joseph Chapman, receiver of the Foshay building, cried the sale but no bidders appeared and the next sale was set for May 10. Periodically during the past year, attempts have been made unsuccessfully to sell the building.

Darnell said half a million dollars would have to be posted as evidence of good faith by any buyer before the sale.

COOLIDGE SCORES FEDERAL EXTRAVAGANCE URGING PROTECTIVE NON-PARTISAN WAGE EARNER-BUSINESS MAN COMBINATION

Philadelphia, March 23.—(U.P.)—Sharp criticism of governmental extravagance and a suggestion that wage earners and business men organize solidly against it are offered by Calvin Coolidge in an article entitled "Debts and Taxes" in the current Saturday Evening Post.

Nation Has Resources "Scarcely anyone questions the necessity of some increase of tax rates and the imposition of new taxes by the national government to pay the present deficit," he wrote. "But it seems apparent that such remedy ought only to be for the existing emergency that must be met to protect the public credit."

"The nation has the resources to provide for such action, and they must be used. But the only permanent remedy, the only relief for high taxes, is a reduction of public expenditures. Such a reduction must be made."

"Almost all our governmental units have been taxing, borrowing and spending beyond the means of the people to pay. Taxes are remaining unpaid. That causes forced sales of property and destroys values. The credit of many units is exhausted so

Fighting On for Son

Carrying to the people her firm faith in her son's innocence, Mrs. Mary Mooney, above, mother of Tim Mooney, is speaking before huge audiences in the principal cities of the United States. She recently called on President Hoover, but he was too busy to see her. Mooney is serving a life term in San Quentin prison, near San Francisco, Calif., for his alleged participation in a Preparedness Day bombing. The judge and jury that convicted him have pleaded for his release.

URGES SALES TAX FOR ROOSEVELT FACES JOBLESS RELIEF BY GARNER SUPPORTER PUBLIC PROJECTS GEORGIA POLL TODAY

Minneapolis, March 23.—(U.P.)—Lynn Thompson, labor leader and member of the school board, today urged adoption of the sales tax to create a peace time unemployed army which would be used for public works.

The tax would be used to raise a $5,000,000 fund for made work and give employment to 4,000,000 men. Thompson said. Thompson's proposal was sent to all congressmen and to the governors of 48 states. Thirty-four governors have responded favorably, Thompson said.

Under his plan, forces would be pro-rated among the states as in war time. Minnesota would enlist 83,000, New York 400,000 and Arizona 14,000. Each man would be paid $120 a month which Thompson said was below the cost of maintaining a soldier in war time.

The men could be used to clean up forests, reforestation, fight pests, build dikes and do other needed work. The plan would result in employment for six million other men in factories, he said.

Jackson, Miss., March 23.—(U.P.)—The three per cent sales tax bill, designed as an emergency measure to balance the state's budget, failed of passage in the senate today. The house previously had approved it.

The vote in the senate was 25 for, 24 against. Three-fifths majority is required to pass revenue measures.

Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—(U.P.)—Georgia's presidential primary today has Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, opposed only by Judge S. Speaker of the House John N. Garner, of Ohio, and a supporter of Mr. Howard, of Atlanta, supporter of Mr. Roosevelt, in the contest for 28 votes in the Democratic convention.

Roosevelt, expected to win easily, rates as an adopted favorite son of Georgia. He visits the Warm Springs health resort several times annually, in fact, he is a leader in the Warm Springs institution.

Judge Howard's entrance in the name of a Garner was a last minute move, just before the entry lists closed last month. The Garner organization has carried on an extensive campaign, especially in the urban sections of the state.

Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, would have been a third factor in the election, but his formal application failed to arrive before the entry lists closed.

HAVER GLASS MEASURE WOULD HARM BUSINESS AND FEDERAL RESERVE

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES FACE CUT AS SENATE VOTES BUDGET SLASH

REPORT ON BILL REDUCING SALARIES OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES EXPECTED SOON

Washington, March 23.—(U.P.)—The special house economy committee is expected today or tomorrow to report a bill reducing the salaries of government employees.

The committee has nearly a dozen various salary reduction proposals before it to choose from. One sponsored by Rep. Williamson, Rep., S. D., is believed to be the most favored. It provides cuts beginning with one per cent for the $1,000-a-year clerks and ranging up to 10 per cent for the officials who get more than $5,000.

With committee action approaching, Rep. Connelly, Dem., Mass., began to organize the wage-cut opposition in the house and predicted defeat of any such bill.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor issued a statement containing similar arguments against salary reductions.

The senate, tackling the economy question from another angle, voted yesterday to have its appropriation committee make a 10 per cent reduction in the $125,000,000 appropriation bill passed by the house for the state, commerce, labor and justice departments. A similar reduction already had been ordered in the interior department bill and Chairman Jones announced the appropriation committee would cut all succeeding bills without waiting for specific orders from the senate. He said house leaders had assured him that body would agree to the reductions.

CHARGE PROPOSAL DUMP FARMS HELD BY BUREAU OF MARKETS

St. Paul, March 23.—(U.P.)—The state rural credits bureau advisory board today continued its survey into the financial condition and systems of the bureau in preparation for an early recommendation.

Another attempt to sell the bureau's bonds to the state investment board had proved unavailing after a heated skirmish between Governor Floyd E. Olson and two other members of the board, Julius Schmalz, state treasurer, and Stafford King, state auditor.

For the second time, Olson and bureau members sought to obtain the board's purchase of approximately $2,000,000 worth of bureau securities. Schmalz and King opposed the purchase on the grounds that the bureau was mismanaged.

Charges of increased expenditures and a proposal to "dump" bureau farms on the market were made by Schmalz and King and were denied by Olson.

W. S. Moscrop of Lake Elmo, member of the bureau's advisory board, said that his committee could not make a recommendation until it had completed its study of the bureau. A further meeting was arranged with the investment board and the advisory committee taking part.

FORCE MINE PICKETS TO ABANDON POSTS

Scranton, Pa., March 23.—(U.P.)—Police forced pickets to abandon their posts today in the insurgent anthracite mine strike and arrested 29 on charges of stoning workers.

The strikers, who walked out 10 days ago after issuing demands to operators for equalization of work and maintenance of wage scales, were reduced to about 10,000 today.

Pickets jeered and hooted the miners.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad materially but unwillingly aided the strikers in the only new closing of the day. Railroad officials refused to operate a regular miners' passenger train from Kingston to the Loomis mine, because strikers had been hurling stones at the coaches, damaging them. The mine did not work.

Washington, March 23.—(U.P.)—Representatives of bankers' organizations today assailed the Glass bank regulation bill as a dangerously deflationary measure which would drive members from the Federal Reserve system and harm business generally.

Allan M. Pope, president of the Investment Bankers' association, and Harry J. Haas, president of the American Bankers' association, joined before the senate banking and currency committee in condemning the bill as dangerous and unwise at this time.

Speaking for the interim committee of his association, Haas said: "We are of the opinion that it would be a serious mistake to pass a bill at this time having so many provisions of a deflationary and regulatory nature which would, in our opinion, cause the withdrawal of a considerable number of members of the Federal Reserve system."

"We believe the effect would be injurious, not only to the member banks but to the business interests of the country."

"We believe," Haas continued, "that the groundwork has been laid for improvement in business. Many large business concerns have mapped plans for expenditure of large sums for the employment of labor and the purchase of materials. But we sincerely believe that these plans would be interrupted or held in abeyance should they be fearful of legislation affecting their business adversely."

REFUSAL OF CHINESE GENERAL TO CONFER HALTS PEACE PARLEY

Shanghai, March 23.—(U.P.)—Peace negotiations between Japanese and Chinese were further delayed today when Gen. Chiang Kwang-Nai, commander-in-chief of the Chinese 19th route army, refused to participate with an inferior Japanese officer.

Gen. Chiang left for Nanking. Quo Tai-Chi, representing the Chinese foreign office, notified Japanese he was not prepared to participate in the negotiations due to Chiang's departure, so the scheduled peace meeting was postponed.

The Japanese had named Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda as their military representative instead of the highest ranking officer here, Gen. Shirakawa. After the departure of Gen. Chiang, the Chinese named Gen. Gaston Wing to represent their military.

Despite Gen. Chiang's attitude, Gen. Shirakawa will not participate in the conference and Japanese conferees resigned themselves to hopeful waiting. It was understood that American Minister Nelson T. Johnson and British Minister Sir Miles Lampson were negotiating with the Chinese to arrange resumption of the conference.

At a conference tonight, Quo Tai-Chi announced Gen. Tai-Chi would replace Chiang Kwang-Nai.

Austin, Minn., March 23.—(U.P.)—Rev. Harry Poll, pastor of the Church of Christ, received 1,280 votes to 871 for Mayor Jacob Becker in yesterday's primary election, it was announced today.

Poll, who has served as pastor here for the past eight years, entered the race against Becker, the incumbent. The city elections will be held April 2. Poll is chaplain of the state department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He also is acting secretary of the Minnesota Christian Missionary society.

Ortonville, Minn., March 23.—(U.P.)—H. H. Raindl, former cashier of the First State Bank of Odessa, and Ada Jallo, his assistant, were indicted today by a county grand jury on charges of embezzlement.

Six indictments were returned against each. The indictments grew out of an investigation by bank examiners after the bank was closed in August last year.

Raindl was taken from his garage where he had been overcome by gas fumes yesterday morning.

Bootie Offers X-ray Shoe Fitter; One of Four Available in the State

Medieval theory that foot coverings must fit the feet as practiced by early savages who tied a bit of rawhide about their feet in comfortable tightness so as not to chafe or bruise the member might be likened to modern practices in shoe fitting by means of an X-ray shoe fitter which pictures for your knowledge bones of the foot and indicates the proper shaped shoe for perfect comfort, style and service.

Problem of shoe fitting, long awaiting the solution of shoe dealers, is apparently solved by the X-ray. The customer places his or her foot in the machine. He then is able to see exactly for himself what shoe will best fit the foot and what style is best adapted for their wear.

This X-ray machine, only one of four available in Minnesota and the others only in the larger cities is offered as an extra service of The Bootie. V. E. Schedin, owner, who brings this unusual service to Brainerd at considerable effort and expense invites the public to avail themselves of this service without obligation.

Examination with this machine is just as simple as weighing yourself on a penny scale. You just step on the machine and see the bones of your feet and the outline of the flesh just as your foot lies inside the shoe. It takes only a minute and you don't remove your shoes.

There are three view-copes... one for the person whose feet are being examined (as your child, for example) one for the shoe clerk, and one for the mother, or whoever a third interested party might be. A long flexible pointer enables the person who is conducting the examination to point out specific incorrections or imperfections in the design or fit of shoes, as well as disclosing whatever might be wrong with the feet.

NECKLACE BUTTONS SOME 100 YEARS OLD LOANED TO MUSEUM

PICTURES EARLY SCENES IN COUNTY LOANED IN JOHN SHULL COLLECTION

Milady's buttons of as far back as a century made into a necklace have been loaned to the Crow Wing County Historical Society for exhibition in the museum.

The necklace is the property of John Shull, native resident of the county who now lives on a farm 15 miles north of Brainerd near Pelican lake. He also loaned to the society pictures of early scenes in Brainerd and the county. These comprise two pictures of the Brainerd Lumber Co. saw mill on Rice lake, and another of farm's waiting to receive Pelican Lake Outing Club members at Hubert in July, 1908. The saw mill in the first pictures was dismantled in 1904.

There is also a picture of Shull and his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Colburn, Pine City, Minn., who was 85 years old on Sept. 10, 1932.

Shull was born in Crow Wing county on a farm three miles south of Brainerd, Feb. 21, 1885. Mrs. Colburn was born in New York state near Buffalo. She rode with Little Tom Thumb on an elephant when Ringling Brothers circus showed there. She lived several years near Northfield, Minn., where her husband died. She was married in Crow Wing county to Absolum Shull, carpenter who built several houses on Sixth street, one being the Anton Mahlum home. He also worked for J. J. Howe at his mill which was located on Boom lake and made 50 sets of ox yoke for Howe when oxen were used for logging. Mr. Shull died when John was three years old. John worked for the Brainerd Lumber Co. and also was employed in the blacksmith shop of the Northern Pacific railway shop here for eight years under foreman Edward Crust. He lived in Brainerd when the principal part of the town was located where West Brainerd now stands.

Britain to Stand Firmly on Anglo-Irish Treaty Warning Against Breach

London, March 23—(U.P.)—Announcement of a firm British policy toward the Republican government of the Irish Free State was expected today.

The cabinet considered Eamon De Valera's plan to renounce the oath of allegiance to the crown and land annuities paid England.

Britain was expected to stand firmly on terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty, to indicate in clearest language the consequences of any such breach in the treaty.

King George received J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, in audience at Buckingham palace for an hour, after which Thomas hurried to the cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing street.

The British government, it was understood, desires that any controversy be conducted with dignity and patience. It was considered possible the dispute might be referred to a tribunal.

Simultaneously, in Dublin, De Valera told the senate the Free State did not propose to continue paying land annuities to England. The next payment is due late in June.

"The government is addressing to the Free State government a communication which will make their standpoint clear beyond the possibility of a doubt on the question of the oath," Thomas said today.

"Failure to pay the land annuities would be a manifest violation of an agreement which is binding in law and honor on the Irish Free State, whatever administration might be in power."

Thomas stated the government's position after an audience with the king and an important cabinet meeting.

Thomas, reply to a question, conty. Free State commissioner in London, in which the Free State contended the oath was not made mandatory in the treaty of 1921.

"It is manifest that the oath is an integral part of the treaty," Thomas said.

Regarding the land annuities, he said there had been no official communication, but on the basis of De Valera's speech to the Free State senate yesterday, as reported by the press, "we understand the Free State government proposes to retain the land annuities."

"An honorable agreement could only be altered by agreement on two sides," Thomas said. "The Free State government is bound by the most formal and explicit undertaking to continue to pay the land annuities to the national debt commissioners."

Thomas' explicit statement that Britain would not allow the Free State to abolish the oath or retain the land annuities created the impression in many sections of the house that the British communication would refuse even to enter into negotiations about it.

Several Laborites were prompted to cry out that it was "sheer war" and a declaration of war. They clamored to know the contents of the note but the published contents of a communication from John W. Dillan-Thomas argued that publication would embitter the situation.

ZAPFFE OUTLINES PRELIMINARY STEPS CHARTER REVISION

Carl Zapffe, president of the Brainerd Water and Light department and member of the Brainerd Charter Commission during 1912-13-14-15 resigning to accept the appointment to the utilities board, gave members of the present commission the benefit of his experience in an address to them last night.

The charter commission is engaged at present in the preliminaries toward the formulation of a new charter. Zapffe pointed out many antiquated provisions in the charter pertaining to various departments in the city, including the water and light department.

"The new city charter should be cut out to suit the city of Brainerd, not patterned after any larger city. There are many requirements applicable only to Brainerd," Zapffe said, pointing out that charter provisions as constructed 25 years ago are obsolete and even comprise a hindrance to the city's operation.

The new charter can be presented to the voters at the fall election. If not completed by that time it can be presented in the city election, the spring of 1934.

FURRIER KILLS WIFE, STABS SELF; SAYS WORLD AGAINST HIM

Faribault, Minn., March 23—(UP)—Joseph Vanger, a furrier, told St. Louis hospital officials today that he wanted to die after he stabbed his wife to death last night in a quarrel and attempted suicide.

Vanger, who told police officials that the "world was against him," said that he had quarreled with his wife and that he had killed her with a butcher knife and then attempted to slay his own throat with the knife.

A passerby heard the fracas above the furrier's shop about 1:15 last night. A window light was broken. The passerby notified the police who attempted to break into the apartment.

Chief of Police Al Hanson and patrolman Lawrence Ableman found the apartment locked, and they returned to the police station for tear gas bombs. When they came back the door was open. They found the dead body of Mrs. Vanger, and the wounded Vanger.

Coroner M. L. Mayland was called and anger, who had been unconscious, came to. He admitted the stabbing, but the rest of his conversation was incoherent. Coroner Mayland said that Mrs. Vanger had been stabbed in the stomach, heart and throat. The police found two bullets in the room, but could find no gun. They searched the body of the woman for possible bullet wounds today.

Vanger, had a fur shop above the Faribault book store two months ago. The book store and the fur shop were destroyed by a fire. It was said that Vanger had lost everything in the fire because he had no insurance.

EASTMAN'S DEATH—

The tragedy of George Eastman's death is not lessened by the laconic note he left for his friends.

"My work is done—Why wait?" he wrote just before he killed himself.

We can never really know just what leads a man to end his life. In Mr. Eastman's case continued ill health and the fear of becoming physically helpless in the near future doubtless were leading causes. But that little note is a surprising and saddening thing.

It seems to reflect, somehow, the all-too-prevalent American notion; the idea that we live only to work, and that a happy existence cannot be carried on if there is not some useful task with which the hands can be kept constantly busy.

That idea, probably, is a heritage from the pioneer days, when every member of society had to justify his very right to existence by continued labor. There was no time then for idling, no time for resting at the end of a long furrow; life was a struggle that never stopped until the grave had been reached.

But the pioneer era is a long way back of us now. We can be more leisurely, we do not have to be so continually active; and we should be able to see that the very crown of the life can be a serene, untroubled and blithely "useless" old age, with all work pushed aside and the whole being devoted to savoring those joys of sheer existence which there was no time to enjoy in youth.

For we have no proof, after all, that we are here solely, or even chiefly, in order that we may work. Life is a profound mystery, and sometimes it is very hard to get a glimpse of its underlying significance; but its highest and noblest moments very often come when one is completely idle, when the workaday world has been temporarily forgotten and one is contemplating such incidental things as music, literature, the color and form and harmony of the natural world.

If we overlook that fact we can go woefully astray. We can come to the last long slope in the road, and, finding our tasks finished, feel a sense of loss instead of a sense of release—so that we say, tragically, that because our work is done there is nothing left for which we can live.

DISADVANTAGES OF THE DOLE—

We have been told plenty of times, during the past few months, that the dole is demoralizing. Nobody ever took the trouble to show just how and why it is demoralizing, though, until the Welfare Council of New York City the other day released a report studying the effect of unemployment on the "new poor."

From reports of some 900 social workers and public health nurses, the Welfare Council was able to get a pretty clear picture of what happens in a hitherto self-supporting, self-reliant family when it is forced to live on charity.

"Most of them," says the survey, "really wanted work. When they got it without too long a wait, they were happy that they could get along without further assistance, and here was usually no evidence of the development of a dependent attitude."

"When employment was long delayed, these who at first were uncomfortable at the necessity for seeking assistance, and grateful for whatever was given, became demanding and grasping. After the initial embarrassment of a first recourse to charity is overcome, it is easy to ask a second time, to drop efforts to find work, accept a position of dependence, rely on the agency and criticize its methods."

The survey explains, too, that many unemployed workers "became so mentally and physically fatigued by the constant discouragement of unsuccessful search for employment that they were as open to the mental infection of dependency, as they were to various physical infections."

This amply buttresses all the bad things that we have been hearing about the dole. Yet it is worth noticing that the people studied in this report were the recipients of local charity. Their money was coming from their immediate fellow-citizens and not from Uncle Sam.

One kind of dole, evidently, is just as bad as another kind. It is tragic that people have to ask for help; inevitable, when they do, that some of them will lose their self-reliance and their energy.

THE "MORNING AFTER"—

Anyone who has indulged in strenuous exertion knows what "getting the second wind" means. There are a lot of people and a lot of industries getting their "second wind" in a business and financial way today.

Those industries and individuals with constitutions strong enough to stand the "reducing process" of the past two years have sweated off their overload of fat, secured "their second wind" and are ready for real work.

There is nothing unusual about the experience we have been through. It was a whole lot like a great national banquet. Most of the guests not only gorged themselves on healthful food, but ate all the indigestible viands they could swallow.

Their "morning after" was inevitable. But it was so severe that many of them are still frightened of all nourishment—good as well as bad.

Retrenchment, economy and starvation diets, now being practiced in the extreme, do as much harm as the reign of gluttony and extravagance that preceded them.

The nation now depends on the men and industries that have their "second wind" and are ready to proceed on a normal diet of production and earnings.

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, young artist, whom she meets at Dreamland where she works as a dance hall hostess. Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWEN, a scheming, but he shows Ellen attention until his fiancée returns from Europe.

From a sense of gratitude Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, kind and wealthy man of 37 who has paid her expenses for her brother, MIKE, injured in a street accident. He finds a job for BERT ARMSTEAD, engaged to Ellen's sister, Myra.

Barclay has been married and divorced. Scandal accompanied his divorce from LEIDA GRAYSON, dancer, and, fearing talk of the divorce may be revived, he and Ellen agree to keep their marriage secret. Myra and Bert are to be married the same day as Ellen and Barclay.

Two days before her wedding Ellen goes to the office of SYMES & PRENDERGAST, Barclay's attorneys, where her fiancé is to sign papers settling a fortune on her. She knows Symes believes her to be a gold-digger and insists that the settlement papers wait until after the marriage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIII

THE next two days passed at such a pace that Ellen felt guilty when she took time to snatch a few hours sleep. There were so many, many things to do. Such things as trunks and laundry tags to think of. There was that hurried trip for a riding habit, when Steven told Ellen they would ride in London.

Oh, there were millions of things to do.

The Rossiter household moved back and forth from the Brooklyn apartment to the hospital until Mike became as feverish with excitement as his elders. Molly's suggestion that the ceremonies take place in the boy's hospital room was flatly vetoed.

There were the hours spent in the cunning two rooms, kitchenette and bath where Myra and Bert were at last to begin the great adventure. Fortunately this was only two doors from the old apartment. Ellen and Myra were in and out of the place at all times of the day and night.

The girls sewed on chintz draperies and slip-covers. They hemmed tea-towels by the dozen while Bert, humming in that tuneless way of his, lacquered a bedroom suite he and Myra had bought for a song.

The living room furniture was overstuffed, a comfortable and ugly suite bought on the installment plan. Ellen was too wise to suggest that she be allowed to help. Myra was ecstatic at finding the tawdry things that would fit her budget.

Late in the afternoon of the day before the wedding Ellen went out to buy tacks for Bert. She found them sooner than she expected and hurried back. The door had been left on the latch and she stepped into the disordered living room, then stepped out as quickly, her heart pounding and her face suffused with crimson. She waiting outside, confused and feeling the beginning of a great fear.

BERT and Myra had stood in the middle of the small room, lips upon lips, bodies pressed together, clasped close in each other's arms. They had been oblivious of her presence, oblivious of everything except the burning flame that enveloped them.

That what Myra had tried to do was to kiss him when she had said only one word. That embrace had nothing in common with the kisses Ellen had seen her sister and Bert exchange before. Was that what Steven wanted? Was that what she had promised to give him? She could never, never kiss Steven that way.

She waited a long while before rapping on the door. When she entered Myra was sewing a towel and Bert had returned to his painting. Ellen glanced a little foolishly from one to the other.

Bert casually thanked her for the tacks, took them and went into the kitchenette. They heard him pounding with the hammer. Ellen picked up the chintz curtain she had been lining, hunted for her needle and set to work again. Unconsciously she avoided her sister's eyes.

"You came in on us, didn't you?" asked Myra after a pause.

"Yes," admitted Ellen uncomfortably. "I didn't think you knew."

Myra did not appear to be particularly disturbed. A little smile played on her lips and touched her eyes. She was a trifle embarrassed but proud and thrilled, too, as she stumbingly tried to explain to Ellen that Bert's love was just as strong and as sure as it had ever been.

"It's all come back," Myra said. "And Ellen, I'm so happy I can hardly breathe. Just think tomorrow night I'll be Mrs. Bertrand B. Armstead!"

"Yes, that's right," said Ellen soberly, drawing her needle through the chintz. She picked her finger and in the hurry that followed the conversation was abandoned. Presently Ellen felt her fear subside. She had been filling her head with a lot of nonsense. People loved each other in all kinds of ways. Steven with his infinite kindness would never demand anything she could not give. Myra and Bert—well, they were Myra and Bert.

LATER after that strange embarrassment had worn away, Ellen talked with Bert. He was nailing bright red oilcloth on the kitchenette shelves when she went to wash her hands. He seemed entirely absorbed in his task but Ellen sensed that he wanted to speak to her, so she dried her hands and waited.

"I haven't had a chance to tell you," he said presently, "what a boost you've given Myra and me—particularly me. I'm going to make good at Barclay's. Steven has given—well, he's been swell! He's given me a chance but he's made it clear that I'll have to make good on my own. And I'm going to!"

"I know you will, Bert."

"I'm sorry I made such a fuss about the clothes," he persisted uncomfortably. "Myra looks like a queen in them. But I—I hope you understand what I mean. A man wants to do things for his wife himself. You do understand, don't you?"

"Perfectly!" Ellen retorted. "I won't dip in again."

Nor would she. She understood now why the draperies Myra had found at such a bargain meant far more to her than the wardrobe selected with no thought of expense.

Her mother was more difficult. To her and to Mike, Steven represented a kind of perpetual Santa Claus. Already Mike was outrageously spoiled. His hospital room overflowed with Steven's gifts and though Mike hardly looked at them he still demanded a new present of every visitor.

Ellen hoped when she and Steven sailed things would be different. She had tried to talk seriously to her mother, to arrange somehow that she should budget her expenditures. Despite Ellen's pleas Steven had opened a generous account for his prospective mother-in-law and Molly appeared to be trying to clear it out as quickly as possible. Already Molly had managed to fill the apartment with strange purchases that apparently had been made only because she had the money to make them.

After a few feeble efforts Ellen gave up trying to pound sense into the pretty little head of the mother who ever since her sixteenth birthday had been demonstrating her ignorance of life and her unfittedness to cope with it.

ELLEN yielded on every point except one. She drew the line there sharply. The argument occurred when Molly suggested that she should send a note announcing her marriage to her Aunt Myra.

"Why should I?" Ellen asked shortly. "She wouldn't be interested."

"Why, Ellen Rossiter! Your own aunt!"

"My own aunt may have sent us boxes," Ellen interrupted impatiently, "but she hasn't written a line in all those years."

"Aren't you going to look her up when you're in London?"

"Certainly not!"

"But things are different now," said Molly.

"I believe you want me to look her up to high-hat her," Ellen laughed. "Confess! Isn't that it?"

Molly hastily denied the allegation, but her cheeks were pink and she was suspiciously gracious when Ellen flatly refused to call on her aunt in London.

Then quickly, oh, so quickly, the last night of Ellen's girlhood arrived. It was very late when she and Myra got into bed. Heroically they agreed not to talk but they might as well have for all the sleep Ellen got. She lay in the warm darkness, thinking.

She was safe tonight, alone, inviolate.

But tomorrow night?

Steven wasn't the man she wanted to marry. She would have to tell him in the morning. Oh, she couldn't, she couldn't! If she told him he would go away very quietly. He was proud but she would break his heart even though he hid the deathly hurt. She would break the heart of a man who had given her everything.

It was too late now. She could not cause that look to come into his eyes, that look of utter humiliation. She could not tell Steven that all along she had been mistaken. If he were a younger man perhaps—but Steven was not young. She could not humiliate him in a way a thousand times worse than she herself had been humiliated. She knew what that suffering was. He must be saved from that.

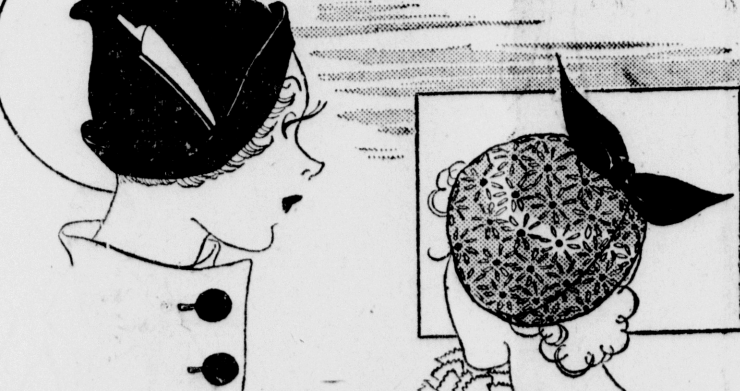

Perhaps she was only nervous. People talked so. It was the darkness that frightened her, the brooding, quiet darkness. If she could see Steven again she would not be frightened. She would know he was kind and gentle.

Toward morning she fell into an uneasy sleep.

Thoughts for Lent

"Then Shall They See the Son of Man Coming in the Clouds With Great Power and Glory"

(Read Mark 13:24-31.)

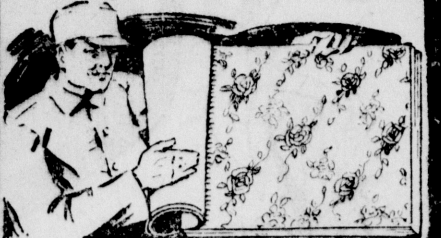

Those who walk with Christ upon the pathway of Radiance, become sooner or later aware of things that are hidden from all others. An age of doubt is bound to deny the discoveries of illumined faith. This, however, need not embarrass men who have recaptured the Radiance; for the vision is dependable and trustworthy. We may abide in confidence while scoffers deride and skeptics argue, for we have been equipped to exercise new powers of observation. There are revelations which seem fantastic to those who disregard the Light; and among them no other is so majestic as the revelation of the cosmic Christ. Let us continue upon our way awaiting the time when we shall see the Son of Man coming with great power and glory.

Prayer: O Thou art eternally the Son of God, and who didst enter the world to be the Son of Man, lead us unto the palace where, according to Thy will, we may behold Thee in Thy great power and glory. Prepare us, we pray, for the revelation of Thyself which Thou dost grant to those who love Thee much and follow Thee with full devotion. Draw us, by Thy Spirit, away from all misleading doubt, that, by Thy help, we may walk in the Light, and enter into the fellowship of the faithful. Amen.

BIDS ASKED ON 174 MILES OF PAVEMENT

GRADING 55 MILES ALSO ON STATE HIGHWAY PROGRAM; LETTING SET FOR APRIL 5

Bids on 173.9 miles of concrete paving and 54.9 miles of trunk highway grading will be received by the Minnesota Highway department April 5, according to announcement by Commissioner C. M. Babcock. This will make it possible to start paving on these projects as soon as weather permits, usually about May 1. Work on the grading projects will start shortly after the contracts are let.

All except one of the paving projects were among the list of jobs on which bids were taken and rejected in December. With contracts previously let, this will make 332 miles definitely undertaken for 1932. The tentative program contemplates letting about 100 miles more at some future date, for completion in 1932.

The list of grading projects includes the first work on the proposed relocation of trunk highway No. 8 between Duluth and Floodwood. The relocation contemplates an entirely new route about five miles south of the temporary trunk highway. The old road was through a swampy terrain which would not furnish a solid foundation for paving. The new route will be on more solid ground, following close to the St. Louis river from Brookston to Floodwood. Bids are called for on construction from Mirbat to Brookston and Brookston to Saginaw. The sections from Mirbat to Floodwood and Saginaw to the junction with No. 11 near Duluth will be let later.

T. H. No. 3 will be all graded from Elbow Lake to the Douglas county line. The new road will be built on a direct line east from Elbow Lake, shortening the distance 1.4 miles and eliminating 9 sharp turns. This project will complete the grading of this route from La Crosse to Breckenridge. No. 3 will be paved at the end of this year except the section from Elbow Lake to Brandon and Lake City to Wabasha.

T. H. No. 4 will be graded from New London to Paynesville. The permanent route will be on the south side of the railroad all the way. The relocation will shorten the distance 2.3 miles and remove 2 railroad grade crossings and 19 sharp turns.

T. H. No. 25 will be graded from Watertown to the junction of state aid road No. 3 four miles north of Norwood. The permanent route will follow a diagonal close to the Crow river from Watertown to Mayer, and follow the present route south from Mayer. The relocation will cut the distance 1.3 miles, and remove 9 sharp turns.

The list of projects with detailed information follows:

TWO WORLD TITLE MATCHES BOOKED FOR CHICAGO STADIUM DURING NEXT MONTH

Chicago, March 23.—(U.P.)—The Chicago stadium, world's largest indoor arena, will stage two world's title matches next month according to plans announced today by Matchmaker Nate Lewis before he departed for New York.

Jackie Fields of Los Angeles will defend his welterweight title against the winner of tomorrow night's bout in New York between Billy Petrolle and Christopher (Bat) Battalino here on April 15 or 22.

George Nichols, Buffalo, will defend his light-heavyweight title against Mickey Walker on April 29, unless a fractured hand keeps him inactive longer than is expected.

The stadium has the signed contracts of Nichols and Walker for their bout, and the signed contract of Fields. Lewis has a telegram of acceptance from Jack Hurley, Petrolle's manager, and will get his signed contract after Thursday night's bout providing the Fargo Express defeats Battalino. Battalino's manager has agreed to the Fields' match by long distance telephone.

The stadium already has staged two title bouts this year. Fields winning back the 147-pound crown from Lou Broillard of Worcester, Mass., and Nichols winning the recognition of the National Boxing Association by defeating Dave Maier of Milwaukee in the 175-pound tournament final.

DR. SPEARS STILL DICKERING WITH BADGER OFFICIALS

Madison, Wis., March 23.—(U.P.)—Dr. Clarence W. Spears, Oregon State football coach, still is bargaining for the Wisconsin coaching post, and may have it if he agrees to the regents' terms, a university authority said unofficially today.

A regents' meeting to consider action of the athletic council in coming to terms with George Yeonker, Iowa State coach, has been delayed pending plans to resume negotiations with Spears, the official intimated. The meeting originally was planned for tomorrow, he said.

Spears once refused the position, after a tentative acceptance which he withdrew to bargain for a better offer, it was reported.

Spears has queried friends here and in Minneapolis, where he once coached the University of Minnesota team, asking if the Wisconsin offer had been finally withdrawn, or if further negotiations were possible, according to reports here.

NEAR RIOT AS GIRL ATTEMPTS PRESENT MAN PAPER DAGGER

New York, March 23.—(U.P.)—An attractive young woman, an ardent admirer of deconnaire Jean Borotra, French tennis ace, was held for observation at Bellevue hospital today because she battled at the International tennis match last night, to present Jean with a dagger-shaped paper shaped paper knife.

Sight of the gleaming knife and screams of the girl as she fought with her detainers, so unnerved Borotra and his teammate, Antoine Gentien, that they lost their doubles match to George M. Lott of Chicago and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, 1-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, giving the United States a 2 to 1 advantage in the matches.

Leaping to her feet in the low gallery at the Seventh regiment armory, the dark-haired girl in a huge fur coat, pulled the knife from her handbag. She waved it at Borotra, who, at the moment, was concentrating every effort on the court below, in one of the longest sets in the history of board-surfacing tennis, with the score 13-all.

NATIONAL HOCKEY TITLE CANADIANS WIN OVER TORONTO

By United Press
Montreal's Canadiens have clinched first place in the National Hockey league's Canadian division, and won a top place in the Stanley cup play-offs.

Their 4 to 2 victory over the challenging Toronto Maple Leafs at Montreal last night turned the trick for last night's games wound up the regular hockey season, with only play-offs remaining.

New York Rangers and the Detroit Falcons battled it out at Detroit, the Falcons winning 5 to 4. At Boston the New York Americans defeated the Bruins 8 to 6.

The world champion Canadiens now are at the top of their division, with Toronto, Montreal's Maroons and the Americans following in the roster named. The last-place Americans will not be in the play-offs.

In the American division, the New York Rangers lead the list, with Chicago, Detroit and Boston following in the order named. Boston also is out of the play-offs.

Final program for the Stanley cup play-offs was announced at Montreal by Frank Calder, league president.

The Canadiens and Rangers will meet in a "best three in five" series, first two games to be played in Montreal Thursday and Saturday. The next game will be in New York on Sunday. The fourth and fifth, if necessary, also will be contested in New York, March 29 and 31.

The second place teams, Toronto and Chicago, will play home-and-home games, the Leafs performing at Chicago Sunday, the return game at Toronto on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the third-place teams, the Maroons and Detroit, will play at Detroit Sunday and in Montreal Tuesday.

ARNEY AND TAYLOR FORMALLY BARRED

Northfield, Minn., March 23.—(U.P.)—Two Carleton college basketball stars were barred permanently today from further competition by college officials after an investigation of their playing with a professional team.

The two are Ronald Taylor, captain-elect for next year's Carleton basketball team, and Dick Arney, forward who scored 184 points to be leading basketball forward in the midwest conference.

Officials found the two had played with the Arlington team in a game against Chaska on March 13. Although records of the game said the two players said they did not know they were thus registered. The Arlington coach said he registered the two and confirmed their story that they did not know they were not playing under their own names.

Prof. J. E. Todd, president of the midwest conference, President Donald J. Cowling of Carleton and Athletic Director Marshall Diebold spent all day yesterday going over facts in the case before announcing their decision to bar the two late last night.

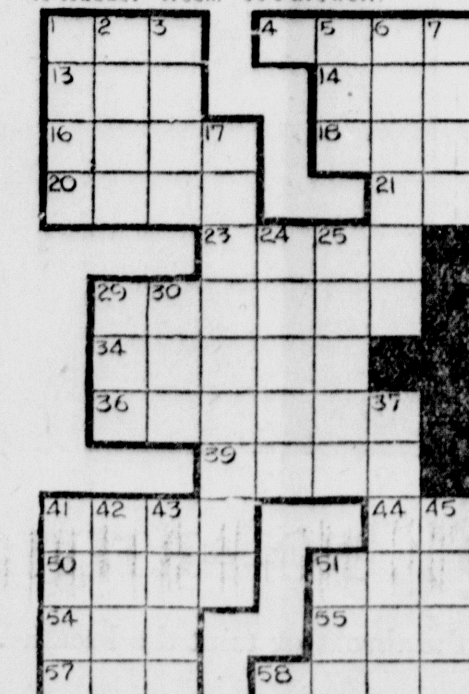

The loss of the two stars will seriously cripple next season's basketball team after Carleton had won its fifth consecutive championship just a few weeks ago.

Officials pointed out that no formal protest had been filed against the two and that they were acting to maintain a clean record of the college's eligibility rule.

Dogs, like humans, have two sets of teeth.

Petrolle Favored to Defeat Battalino

New York, March 23.—(U.P.)—Billy Petrolle, Duluth, Minn., was an 8 to 5 favorite today to defeat Bat Battalino of Hartford, Conn., former featherweight champion, in their 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Both concluded training yesterday.

Prof. J. E. Todd, president of the midwest conference, President Donald J. Cowling of Carleton and Athletic Director Marshall Diebold spent all day yesterday going over facts in the case before announcing their decision to bar the two late last night.

The loss of the two stars will seriously cripple next season's basketball team after Carleton had won its fifth consecutive championship just a few weeks ago.

Officials pointed out that no formal protest had been filed against the two and that they were acting to maintain a clean record of the college's eligibility rule.

Scratch and mash feeds, also the number of pounds it takes to feed 100 hens a day, how much a hen should lay to pay for her keep, feeding of cod liver oil during the long winter months, etc. Mrs. Martin Tautges bought the lumber to make a feeder for 50 hens. Poultry books were distributed. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Koering on April 6. Visitors are always welcome. Much credit is due the leaders for their work.

WHAT

for MOTHER and BABY will help YOUR teeth... too!

BEFORE baby is born and after, modern science urges mothers to eat foods rich in calcium. Calcium is vital to good health, especially in babies and children. It helps the growth of sound teeth, strong bones and steady nerves.

Milk and green vegetables contain calcium. Nearly every mother knows how fresh milk supplies this nourishing mineral food. And Rumford, all-phosphate baking powder, is so rich in calcium that two average Rumford biscuits contain more calcium than a large glass of milk.

Let your youngsters have lots of milk. Drink it yourself. And serve plenty of foods cooked and baked with Rumford. Write today for booklet of facts concerning this excellent way of assuring a sufficient supply of calcium and phosphates in diet.

"Are you sure you're keeping kissable?"

Your poise and grace,
Your lovely face,
Your rosebud lips, all cry "Come Hither!"
Why spoil their lure
With "smokes" impure?
Why cause my love to fade and wither?

You smoke OLD GOLDS?
Lady, that holds
My heart in bonds that will not sever,
Because it shows
You're one who knows
How to keep kissable forever!

OLD GOLDS bring balm,
Throat-ease and calm;
They have a mild and rich completeness.
They're fragrant, too,
And—just like you
They win because of natural sweetness!
